Newsprint Consumption Figures Show Need for More Mills in South

Reports from 1,437 daily papers in the continental United States show they used a combined total of 5,289,458 tons of newsprint in 1953, according to a bulletin from the American Newspaper Publishers association.

This is not the whole picture, but pretty close to it. The ANPA estimates its figures are 86.11 per cent of the probable total, which it believes will be 6,142,897. This is a reasonable deduction because ANPA's questionnaire missed several hundred small dailies and all the weeklies. The reason I know about the ANPA figures is that I filed The Star's 1953 consumption figures, even though we are a small paper, and in return for this I got a copy of the U. S summary.

It is broken down by states only, and the figures should be interesting to timber folks and all the people who live in a timber-growing region such as ours.

The most newsprint was used by New York state, with 888,099 tons. No. 2 consumer was California with 491,367. Third was Illinois with 458,866. Pennsylvania was fourth with 439,729; and Ohio fifth with 318,000.

Arkansas' total newsprint draw was relatively insignificant, only 20,119 tons. However, Mississippi's figure was but a fraction of ours. 8,584.

You realize, of course, that the geographical location of a state, and particularly the position of major cities near the state's boundry in adjoining commonwealths, have a direct effect on newsprint figures. For instance, Louisiana, possessing a major city. New Orleans, and being virtually immune to penetration by major newspapers from any other state, rolls up a newsprint consumption figure of 67,730 tons. That is to say, the newsprint on which Louisianans get their daily news was consumed by presses actually located in Louisiana.

Our Arkansas figure is considerably depressed because the Little Rock papers have no substantial circulation in the eastern half of the state. That belongs to the Memphis papers, whose newsprint consumption is credited to Tennessee, which accordingly comes up with the magificent figure of 82,378 tons for 1953. And the effect of Memphis' penetration is even worse in Mississippi than in Arkansas, as the consumption figures show.

But the important message contained in the ANPA newsprint summary is really this:

The 13 Southern states used in 1953 a total of 931,493 tons of newsprint, but there are only two mills operating in the South, with a combined annual production of but 200,000 tons. These are the Southern pine mills at Lufkin, Texas, first in the United States, and the No. 2 mill at Coosa Pines, Ala. Now building just east of Chattanooga, Tenn., is a third mill, owned by the British Bowaters interest — but even when this mill has raised total capacity to 300,000 tons the South will be producing less than one-third of the newsprint it consumes.

The other two-thirds comes from Canada, and the ratio of Canadian print usage is enormously greater in the Middle West and North.

If ever a set of figures pointed out a long-time goal for industrialization of the South it is this ANPA summary — and it spells out more and bigger newsprint mills. For the South, with its fast-growing pine and great labor reserve, has all the advantages over Canada that the Southeastern states had over New England when they stepped in and seized the latter's textile industry.

Bid Received on 67 Work in Miller

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Highway Commission today received apparent low bids totaling $2,391,672 on 10 road and bridge projects.

Ten per cent will be added to this total for engineering fees.

The apparent low bids were below prebidding estimates.

Highway Department engineers had spoken of the contract letting as a three million dollar one.

The jobs attracted total of around 80 bids including many from out of state contractors.

One Little Rock firm, Reynolds and Williams, was apparent low bidder on the two biggest jobs up at today's letting.

Jobs by counties with apparent low bidders and their bids follow:

Garland — 1.91 miles of gravel base course on the Humphrey Rairy Northwest Road, a county road Jeffrey, Lawrence and Tilley Fort Smith $32,.154.

Miller County — 6.76 miles of concrete paving on Highway 67 between Texarkana and Paup's Spur; Reynolds and Williams Little Rock, $610,917.

There are about 6,000 fur farms in the United States.

Senate Approval of Excise Tax Slash Expected

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to slash about 25 federal excise taxes by 912 million dollars has won overwhelming House passage and today appeared likely to get swift enate approval too.

The House speeded the measure to the Senate yesterday by a 411-3 vote despite opposition from the Eisenhower administration.

The cuts, representing the first major downward revision of the excises or sales taxes in 20 years, would add almost a billion dollars to a deficit already forecast by the President at $2,900,000,000 for the year starting July 1.

The bill also includes something the administration wants and had figured into its budget for fiscal 1955 — extensions of some steeper excises voted after the Korean War began. The Treasury would lose another $1,070,000,000 in revenue if these were to expire April 1 as scheduled.

Sen. George (D-Ga) senior Democrat on the tax-writing Finance Committee, said in an intervi he expects the Senate to

Reopening of Red Cross Office Likely

The Red Cross fund and membership drive, headed by Jack Lowe is striving for 2300 members and a financial goal of $5,000.00 and if those goals are reached Hempstead county has been assured these things by the national office:

Reopening of the local office to expedite local needs, continuation of first aid and water safety courses and if enough local interest can be generated, the resumption of Jr. Red Cross and Gray Ladies.

Any contribution of $1.00 or more makes you a member with a voting interest and being a member of the Red Cross also makes you a member of humanitfes greatest team, people helping people.

Burglars Enter Stuart Home on Highway 67

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Crit Stuart, Highways 4-67 intersection, was broken into early last night but very little was missing, City Police said today.

Entrance was gained through either the front or side door as screens at both entrances were damaged. The Stuarts notified police at 9:50 p. m.

The burglary is very puzzling to officers. Drawers and closets throughout the house were searched but so far as can be determined only a flashlight and a pie in the icebox are missing. Some money and jewelry which the burglar is bound to have seen, was not bothered.

Naturalized Citizen Talks at DAR Meet

Mrs. Henry Kaufman of Ashdown, Arkansas, a naturalized American citizen, was guest speaker of the John Cain Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at luncheon meeting Wednesday.

Mrs. Kaufman came from Germany to the United States in 1939. She served in the United States Army Nurses Corps for thirteen months at McCloskey Hospital in Temple, Texas. Mrs. Kaufman is the secretary of the Polio Chapter, and President of the American Legion Auxiliary in Ashdown.

In speaking on "Freedom . . . The Responsibility of Every American Citizen" Mrs. Kaufman said:

"I am only a naturalized citizen and have been only 15 years in this wonderful country, but I challenge anyone to be prouder of that citizenship than I am . . . America is rich, it is strong and great and powerful.

"And it is so, because many peoples of diverse nationalities, religions and racial backgrounds have come to our shores to estabiisn distinctive contributions to this nation."

"We are free to do things for ourselves and enjoy the benefit of our endeavors. If we decide to improve anything in our community, we need only get together and do so. We do not have to rely upon a distant government to do the things for us. We are limited only by our resources and our abilities."

American Korean Interests in Good Hands, Not Single Fat Colonel in the Lot

By RELMAN MORIN
For Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — We were having dinner in the general's mess in Korea the other night, and looking at the faces around the table, a thought suddenly struck me—

"The people at home don't have to worry about America's interests out here. . . they're in good hands."

The staff officers sitting there looked like the department heads of some hot-shot American corporation. They were all youngish, lean, incisvie, alert. There wasn't an over-stuffed colonel in th lot

In the buzz of conversation, drifting through the room, there was some shop-talk,naturally . But they also were talking politics, the Brlin conference conomic conditions at home, and a whole range of subjects outside the immediate purview of the 8th Army and its officers in Korea.

This, of course, is the "new Army."

It is bringing along a group of sharp young officers with brains, background and the ability to handle problems the old Army power confronted. They are technicians and specialists in the various phases of warfare, to be sure. But they also have to be diplomats, administrators, and executives in the plain business sense of the word.

They may be occupied with a battalion front but they also are aware of military budgets, the relations between the Army and Congress, and the shifting strategies of the global war.

Nobody typifies these men better than the commander of the 8th Army, Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor.

Taylor, 52, is lean, sinewy and looks like a college athlete. Because of his four stars the staff calls him "the old man," although he is only a few years older than most of them. Moreover, he can trim their ears off at tennis or handball which he plays regularly.

He is a fighting soldier—the general who parachuted into Bastogne to rejoin his division, the 101st Airborne, when it was locked in the Battle of the Bulge.

Thomas Named Defense Assistant

WASHINGTON (UP). —President Eisenhower today nominated Assistant Defense Secretary Charles S. Thomas to be secretary of the navy.

Thomas will succeed Robert B. Anderson as navy secretary. Anderson has been named to succeed Roger M. Kyes as deputy defense secretary. Kyes has resigned, effective May 1.

The switches, if confirmed by the Senate, will take place May 1.

Thomas, of Los Angeles and one time head of a West Coast chain of clothing stores, served a under secretary of the navy for the first five months of the Eisenhower administration last year. He then was made assistant defense secretary for supply and logistics.

Thoma, 56, has served in naval aviation in World War I and was a special assistant first to the assistant navy secretary for air and later to the late Navy Secretary James Forrestal in World War II.

Thomas, at one time, was Los Angeles airport commissioner, a director of Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and president of the Navy League's West Coast branch.

Gruenther Feels Third War Unlikely

By TOM BRADSHAW

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, supreme Allied commander in Europe, expressed confidence last night that there will be no third world war because he now feels "we have it in our power to make that decision."

Gen. Gruenther told the final session of the eighth annual Philadelphia Bulletin that the North Atlantic Treaty Organization countries have attained what he termed "a substantial posture of strength" in Europe. He said it is sufficient to provide a shield against "any hot headed act."

Cottonseed Fumigation Days Set

Any 1953 cottonseed not fumigated for pink bollworm control will be treated Wednesday or Thursday, March 17-18 at Hope Gin Company gin in Hope, announced County Agent Oliver L. Adams today. The seed may be brought to the center either day between 8:00 a. m. and 2:00 p. m.

Seed lists checked by A. L. Anderson, USDA Pink Bollworm Inspects for the quarantined area of which Hempstead County is a part, reveal that all 1953 cottonseed have not been fumigated

It is possibe that these seed have been fed or treated in the name of some individual other than the one removing the seed from the gin. In case seed has been fed or fumigated, the producer concerened is requested to advise Mr. Anderson at Hope or the County Agent.

Around 175 tons 1953 cottonseed were fumigated at Hempstead County enters in late February It is necessary under pink bollworm quarantine regulations that all 1953 seed be sacked and brought to center for fumigation. Seed brought to the Hope center by producers will be called for Friday morning, March 19, at 8:00 o'clock.

Like camels, giraffes can go for long periods without water.

Call Goes Out for Pony League Baseball Sponsors

Hope Parks and Recreation Department is issuing a call for sponsors for PONY League baseball.

The newly organized PONY League will consist of four teams and will include 13 and 14 year old boys.

This league was designed to be a transition between Little League and Junior League Baseball, the PONY standing for Protect Our Nations Youth.

The Little and PONY League baseball park must be enclosed with a fence in order to meet with National standards. Materials urgently needed include 70 pieces of 2"x4"x10' rough lumber and 35 five foot posts. Anyone wishing to contribute toward the building of this fence in the form of lumber or money, please contact Charles Gough at City Hall or Mike Kelly at the Ladies Specialty Shop as soon as possible.

Sponsors, manager, coaches and players are hoping to continually improve the "Kid baseball program and urge city wide cooperation in their undertaking.

McCarthy to Answer Adlai Over Air Tonight

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) Sen. McCarthy (RWis) nailing down the chance to make tonight the first broadcast reply to Adlai E. Stevenson, got the jump on an administration drive to lure the spot light away from him.

The senator, still insisting he is entitled to free television and radio time over the networks which carried Stevenson's party speech last Saturday, announced he will make a "partial" reply tonight (7 p. m. EST) on the Mutual radio network.

That will be two days before the official GOP reply by Vice President Nixon.

McCart...y will appear on the 15 minute show of commentator Fulton Lewis Jr. McCarthy said it would be a "question and answer — Most answer affairs He said it would touch oncriticism of him by both Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952, and by Sen. Flanders (RVt).

NBC and CBS, which carried Stevenson's speech from Miami, Fla., have granted free time to the Republican National Committee for reply. The committee, which beat McCarthy to the draw in requesting it, chose Nixon as the GOP speaker.

Indian Is Denied Stay of Execution

WASHINGTON (AP) — Justice Tom Clark of the Supreme Court today denied a stay of execution to Bill Jenkins, who is scheduled to die Friday in the Arkansas electric chair.

Jenkins was convicted of the murder of Cleo Jones, 16, near Hot Springs Feb. 17, 1953.

Counsel for the condemned man filed an application for a stay of execution pending Supreme Court action on an appeal which was filed at the same time yesterday.

The appeal contended Jenkins did not have a fair trial and declared he was insane at the time of the killing and at the time of the trial.

Jenkins' last hope now appears to be a possible stay by the governor of Arkansas. Clark gave no reason in announcing he had denied a stay.

At Little Rock, Gov. Cherry told the Associated Press he could not say if he would grant another stay until he called Washington and obtained more information. He said he planned to talk with Washington officials today.

7,871 Get Food in North Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The emergency relief program distributed more than 35,000 pounds of food to 7,871 persons in three northeast Arkansas counties last month, but the program director says the demand is tapering off.

On March 4, about 5,000 pounds of surplus commodities were ordered for 1,026 persons in Crittenden County, said J. H. Carter, state director of commodity distribution.

Carter said, however, that the two other counties concerned — Poinsett and St. Francis —haven't been heard from this month.

The emergency program started early last month to relieve a dire situation among farm workers brought on by seasonal unemployment.

Greatest Blast in History Set March 15-28

By CHARLES BERNARD

HONNOLULU (UP) — he might iest nuclear explosion in history is expected to take place on remote Eniwetok island in the Pacific sometime between March 15 and 28.

Chairman Lewis Strauss of the atomic energy commission is reported due in the Pacific between those dates. They roughly fit the travel schedules of others known or believed to be among guests invited to witness the tests.

Favorable weather and the absence of some high-ranking guests appeared to be the only factors delaying the test detonation.

The government announced March 1 that the 1954 series of nuclear tests had begun at the lonely Eniwetok-Bikini proving grounds, which already had one of its islands wiped out by the explosion of a hydrogen device in the 1952 tests.

The device to be tested this month is expected to have twice the violence of the 1952 device.

Two members of the joint congressional committee on atomic energy passed through Honolulu Tuesday night en route to Joint Atomic Task Force 7 at Eniwetok.

One member, Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif) said the weather would determnie how long he would be in the test area.

He said he was not free to discuss whether he would see the main detonation, which Washington reports indicated would be an air-dropped hydrogen bomb.

Junior Dress Rehearsal on Eve of Play

The Hope Junior Class will have dress rehearsal tonight for the class play, "Father was a Housewife," to be presented tomorrow in the high school auditorium in two performances, the afternoon performance at 1:30 for the grade school and the night performance at 8:00.

Students in the cast are gifted with talents other than acting. This fact can be promed easily with Patsy Calhoun, who portrays Mrs. Aes, a timid patient, as she is a member of the Latin Club and the Hi-Light staff. She plays a cornet in the band and is candidate for Quill and Scroll.

Sandra Robins , who is cast as Pat Flangan, a man-hating very difficult nurse, is a member of the Hi-Light staff and yearbook staff She is also a member of the Library Club.

Emogene Fuller, who portrays Mrs. Norris a high school principals wife, is a member of the Spanish Club, and is a Maid of Note in the Glee Club,She was one ofthe home coming queens and candidate for Valentine Queen. She is a member of the Hi-Lights staff and a candidate for Quill and Scroll.

Mary Ida Adams, who is cast as Mrs. Osburn, a music publisher, is a member of the Latin Club, 4-H Club, and Glee Club.

Skippy Byran, who plays the part of Calvin Pepper a local disjockey is a member of the Latin Club and student photographer for the Hi-Light staff and yearbook staff.

Carolyn Long, who is cast as Synthis Lewis, a singer is a member of the Rainbow Girls. She is a Maid of Notes in the Glee Club. She and Lee Lane were elected cutest couple in the Junior class.

Schwable Tells Why He Did Confess

By RUTH GMEINER

WASHINGTOON (UP) — Col. Frank H. Schwable said today solitary confinement, constant interrogation, and a sense of futility led him to confess falsely to Communist charges of wagging germ warfare.

"My judgment became warped," Schwable told a marine court of inquiry. "I didn't think then I was losing my sense of judgment. I thought I could think out things fairly well."

The 45-year-old marine aviator recounted in detail the treatment dealt him by Chinese and North Korean captors during 14 months imprisonment.

The court of inquiry is seeking to determine whether Schwable should be disciplined for the "confession" which he later repudiated.

Schwable said the 24-page explanation he wrote for Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., marine corps commandant, immediately on his return home, is "ture to the best of my knowledge." He uaid the statement omitted some details because details sometimes "sound like excuses."

"I wouln't make any excuses to the commandant," Schwable said, "and I won't make any excuses now."

Schwable looked haggard as he learned forward elbows on the witness table, and outlined in a clear, but restrained voice, his ordeal.

"Every time I wake at night," he said, "I wake up thinking of this thing. I have been fairly successful at eliminating many of the minor miseries, but the little details are often things that tell the whole picture."

Schwable put special emphasis on his reiteration of that:

"I was not subjected to physical torture — in the sense of brutallity."

"Perhaps," he went on, "I would have been more fortunate if I had. That is something people seem to understand. Mine was more subtle."

Juvenile Delinquency Reported on Increase in Arkansas, Most Offenders Are 'Repeaters'

By BEVERLY P. WOOD

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Juvenile delinquency in Arkansas has increased to the point that in at least one judicial district the majority of the felonies are committed by teenagers.

Felonie are crimes that are punishable by a penitentiary sentence.

Of the youthful offenders in the area, most are "repeaters."

The situation is not peculiar to that district.

County and state health, welfare, police, religious and civic groups are grasping for solutions to the problems that cause delinquency and to the crisis of rehabilitating juveniles reaching the courtroom.

"If we could just get people to do what they know how to do in their own businesses, churches and everyday relationships, it would help immeasureably," says Miss Ruth Johnston, head of the Chile Welfare Division of the State Welfare Department.

"Say that a boy or girl comes back to the community from a penal institution. Is he invited to join a church or a young people's group If he is of school age, does his teacher or principal offer trust, guidance and help Do businessmen help find him a job?

"Is he made to understand that he already has paid for his past mistake?

"These are things that people can do with no special training. . . with just understanding."

Circuit Judge Aubrey Strait of Morrilton says the private citizen can do even more.

"We've got youngsters in trouble," he said. "We have no detention homes in Faulkner and Conway counties, so when they're picked up we have no recourse but to lock them up — a practice I utterly detest."

Judge Strait, a member of the Judiciary Committee of the Arkansas Council on Children and Youth, is leading a movement to establish a citizen's group that will survey the problem and the needs in communities under his jurisdiction.

"We would find out, primarily, what is causing the increase in juvenile crime," he said. "Then we would try to work out some program of rehabilitation. Perhaps, locate foster homes where we could place the children temporarily."

"We need action, not words," he said.

"Civic groups are ready enough to work on problems about cattle and soil eorsion, but there's not too much public concern about our children."

Judge Strait says that such a private citizen's group or "Community Service Committee" would include members of all civic and public agencies for 24-hour service on any problem affecting children and the home.

What is causing the surge of crime among Arkansas' youngsters

State Police Director Lindsey Hatchett says that until the beginning of World War II, the home remained intact; a focal point from which all community life sprung.

Then the drafting of fathers, the increase in women defense workers and the shuffling of responsibilities "began to tear apart the fabric of the home."

After the war, mothers continued to work to combat inflation — leaving the home a place where people ate and slept and that's all. The Korean War was the final blow.

Mrs. Neva B. Talley of Little Rock, former president of the Arkansas Council on Children and Youth, says the trend is toward shifting the former responsiblity of the home to public and commercial institutions.

"The responsibility of religion and education has been turned over to the churches and schools; baby sitters and diaper services perform duties once relegated to the home; now the parents are trying to make discipline a public responsibility," she said.

"The public is not prepared for such responsibility," said Mrs. Talley.

Americans, on the average, drink about a pint of wine a week and Frenchman about a pint a day.

Flea species often correspond to the animals on which they prey and bat fleas are blind.

Poultry Tax Suit Under Advisement

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Chancellor Guy E. Williams yesterday took under advisement a suit in which a Jefferson County poultry farmer charged that he isn't liable for a $4,831 sales tax charge filed against him by the state.

J. E. Sawyer, operator of the Freeman Farms near Pine Bluff, said he should be charged only with the use tax on feed he actually fed to his chickens. He was charged with sales tax on all feed he ordered between 1950 and 1952.

Sawyer said the feed which he ordered was used cooperatively by poultry farmers in Jefferson County. He said he sold only $3,81 worth of feed and paid sales taxes on that amount.

Revenue Department Attorney O. T. Ward contended that Sawyer is liable for the tax on $251,000 worth of feed he purchased because he has a retail permit allowing him to buy at wholesale.

Oppoisng attorneys were ordered to submit briefs within 30 days.

Monday March 15

Members of Poplar Grove 196, Supreme Forest Woodmen's Circle, will meet at the home of Mrs. Dwight Ridgdill for their regular monthly social on Monday night, March 15, instead of Tuesday. This change is due to conflicting schedules.

Reverend Pendleton P. T. A. Speaker

"Healthy Personality" was the topic discussed by the Reverend Edmund Pendleton when he spoke to the members of the Oglesby P.T. A. on Wednesday afternoon, March 10. The Reverend Pendleton stressed the fact that in homes where there is true love and understanding among the members, there is little to fear of juvenile delinquency.

During the business meeting the following officers were elected for the 1954-1955 school year; president, Mrs. Edmund Pendleton; vice president, Mrs. Theo Long; secretary, Mrs. W. E. Nutt; treasurer, Mrs. Ervin Chism.

Mrs. F. J. Bruce was appointed representative from Oglesby to attend the P. T. A. organization being formed for exceptional children.

Attention was called to the landscaping of the school grounds by the Danlia Garden Club and members of the P. T. A.

Mrs. Tooley Hostess To P. E. O. Sisterhood

Chapter AE of the P. E. O. Sisterhood met on Tuesday afternoon, March 9, at three o'clock in the home of Mrs. L. B. Tooley.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with jonquils and snap dragons.

An election of officers was held with the officers and their various offices as follows: president, Mrs. Jim McKenzie; vice-president, Mrs. Henry Haynes; recording secretary Mrs. Walter Sims; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Mac Stuart; treasurer, Mrs. F. C. Crow; Mrs. C. V. Nunn, Sr., chaplain; guard, Mrs. Ferell Baker.

The hostess served a dessert plate to seventeen members.

Hempstead County Education Association Has Meeting

The Hempstead County Education Association met Tuesday night, March 9, in the Hope Junior High Auditorium.

The organization voted to buy one life membership in the Arkansas Education Association for the active teacher with the longest record of teaching in Hempstead County.

The present officers were voted to serve during the 1954-55 school year: president, Carl Brady; vice president, Raymond Honea; secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Mary Nell Turner.

Miss Janette Barr, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Turner, sang two selections: Summertime by George Gershwin and "My Hero by Oscar Straus.

The question: "How to establish and administer a health program in your school?" was the subject of a panel discussion. Mr. Thurston Husley of Washington School acted as chairman, and panel members were Mrs. O. H. Bristow of Guernsey School, Mrs. Elmer Brown, Mrs. Frank Mason and Mr. James H. Jones of the Hope schools.

Guest at the meeting was Miss Georgia Langley, a Henderson State Teachers College practice teacher at Brookwood School.

111 Puerto Ricans Are Subpoenaed

NEW YORK (AP)— Subpoenaes were served on 111 Puerto Ricans here and in Chicago yesterday in a sudden move connected with the shooting of five congressmen in Washington last week.

The swift drive was the largest peacetime serving of federal witnesses in connection with a single conspiracy.

Mrs. Rosa Collazo, wife of a would-be assassin of former President Harry S. Truman, was among the 91 persons subpoenaed here. Her husband is now serving a life sentence.

All four persons arrested in the Washington shootings admitted membership in the fanatic Nationalist Party of Puerto Rico

19 Chicago Prisoners Riot 7 Hours

CHICAGO (AP) —Nineteen prisoners in Cook County's overcrowded jail rioted for more than seven hours yesterday before they surrendered after a barrage of tear gas shells and streams of water from high-pressure fire hoses.

The disheveled prisoners, soaking, shivering and gasping, stumbled out of a cell-block layroom on the jail's third floor after a final hour of defiance late last night.

Three of the 19 suffered injuries in the stormy battle the inmates had waged with guards, police and firemen. Four guards also were injured, none seriously.

The starting of a jail braek was blamed by Sheriff John E. Babb for touching off the siege by the prisoners. All were confined to the maximum security section of the jail and were considered dangerous. The ringleaders were described by officials as a condemned murderer and a bank robber.

Babb, who was over come by tear gas fumes in leading the assault against the prisoners, had steadfastly refused to bargain with the rioters.

"They will get a diet of tear gas — no food," he said.

Another jail official said overcrowding of the jail, which houses nearly 2,000 inmates, contributed to the riot. The jail was built to accommodate 1,305 prisoners.

More than 52 tear gas shells were fired into the day room, which measures 30 by 100 feet. Firemen poured water in through broken windows and through ports inside the building.

Chief Patrick Tuohy of the sheriff's police finally yelled to the rioters: "All right, any of you that want to come out, walk out backward one at a time."

Tuohy said after a long pause one of the prisoners shouted: "All right, we give up. We're coming out."

Eayptians Seize Woman's Property

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt's Revolutionary Court has ordered confiscation of the millions Mrs. Zeirab el Wakil Nahas made in graft but soared the wife of Wafdist expremier Mustapha el Nahas from prison because she's ailing.

The three-man military tribunal found Mrs. Nahas guilty of corruption yesterday after hearing prosecution charges that she salted away nearly three million dollars in graft during her husband's two terms as head of King Farouk's government.

The court ordered her stripped of all her property except 10,000 pounds ($28,700.). But during the trial the prosecutor told the court Mrs. Nahas, after Farouk's ouster, smuggled 863,000 pounds ($1,808,100) to Switzerland before she and her husband were arrested. Presumably the government won't be able to get that.

Reports Steps for Permenant Polio Vaccine

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Albert B. Sabin, Cincinnati virus expert, today reported big steps toward a new kind of polio vaccine which might give lifelong protection.

He announced finding "tame" living polio viruses which have been used successfully in vaccine tests on monkeys.

Although still alive, these viruses are harmless "cousins" of regular polio virus, and don't cause sickness. Because they are alive, they presumably would be far more powerful in creating protective antibodies than killed viruses, such as used in the Salk vaccine. The antibodies created by living virus could last for years even perhaps a lifetime.

Much more work needs to be done on this type of vaccine, Dr. Sabin, of the University of Cincinnati Medical College, told the Michigan Foundation for Medical and Health Education.

He expressed opinion here are still some unanswered technical, questions about the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of Pittsburgh.

A main question is how effective killed viruses are in creating antibodies and how long such antibodies last, he said.

Alaskan Case Delayed by Suicide

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (UP) — U. S. District Attorney Ted Stevens said today all evidence in the murder case of wealthy auto dealer Cecil Wells should be revived and the trial of Negro jazz drummer Johnny Warren be postponed.

Stevens said the "unfortunate and tragic" suicide Tuesday of blonde Diane Wells, originally accused along with Warren of the murder, made the postponement of Warren's trial necessary.

Stevens said the postponement, which he requested yesterday, was planned even before Mrs. Wells took her own life in Hollywood, California, with an overdose of sleeping pills.

Authorities in Fairbanks said the postponement was based on "new developments" resulting from the work of two Seattle investigators.

Meanwhile, in Hollywood laboratory reports were being prepared to obtain additional information for the autopsy report on the attractive widow whose suicide has only deepened the mystery surrounding the case.

Dr. Victor Cefalu, autopsy surgeon, said yesterday examination of Mrs. Wells' body disclosed evidence of a recent abortion. He said it was too early to tell if the abortion was performed by someone else or was self-induced.

Toal Road Study Is Authorized

LITTLE ROCK Ark., (UP)—The Arkansas Highway Commission today authorized a study for possible construction of toll road between Little Rock and West Memphis.

The study would cost between $15,000 and $40,000 to make.

The survey was requested by a state legislative council resolution submitted recently by State Rep. Marion Crank of Little River county.

A University of Arkansas report compiled earlier this year said there was no highway in the state that was suited to become a toll road facility.

Gold produced in South Dakota in 1952 weighed a total of 18.048 tons and, if assembled in one place, would occupy 29,931 cubic feet.

Before that, however he was entrusted with the ticklish decision—political as well as military—of negotiating with Marshal Badoglio for an airborne operation against Rome in September 1943. That was before Italy had surrendered. Taylor was smuggled into the city under the noses of two German divisions stationed nearby.

Incidentally, he ruled against the proposed operation.

Ever since he was a young officer, he has been in posts around the world that threw him in contact with problems of diplomacy and international relations. He speaks French, Spanish and Japanese, and picked up a working knowledge of Chinese while he was stationed in Peiping.

Now he is studying Korean.

His primary job over there today is, of course, the military dispositions of the 8th Army.

In addition however he initiated and obtained the funds for a program of reconstruction and rehabilitaiton. He administers that program.

He also started an education program in the Army directed mainly toward raising the educational level of the non-commissioned officers, the kingpins of any Army. He visits the classrooms incessantly and keeps a constant check on the progress.

Finally, he deals directly with President Syngman Rhee and the South Korean government. In that task, he is little different from an ambassador. He is a soft spoken man, by nature but he can be tough as nails in these negotiations. Taylor is typical of America's "new Army."

Piles' Pain Grieved Him—This Relieved Him:

Senate Opproval

pass the House bill with little or no change.

Several Republicans on the committee said they would go along with the excise reductions.

Chairman Millikin (R-Colo) of the Finance Committee declined to disclose his position. But he said he would call his group together promptly, perhaps tomorrow, to start work on the bill, against the approaching expiration date.

There were indications today that the administration, which had hoped at least to scale down the excise reductions in the Senate, might instead wind up trying to head off further revenue losses.

George said in the interview that he would not try to attack to the excise bill his proposal for a drastic cut in personal income taxes by raising exemptions of each taxpayer and his dependent.

He said he would save this for the 875-page general tax revision measure which the House starts to debate next Wednesday.

But other Democratic senators who want the exemptions boosted said privately they may offer an amendment to accomplish this when the excise bill gets to the floor.

They said also that they may seek to cut more excises, such as those on television and radio sets.

Raschi Shows Good Form for Cards

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer

Chalk one up for Vic Raschi today —and the St. Louis Cardinals too.

"I think I can help them a lot," Saschi repeatedly has said since the Redbirds purchased him from the New York Yankees.

Yesterday, he showed he wasn't kidding. Making his debut for the National Leaguers, the 35-year-old right-hander limited the Chicago White Sox to two hits in the four innings he worked as the Cardinals eked out a 7-5 victory.

Using his fast ball sparingly, but effectively mising up curves and changes of pace, he gave up a home run to Eddie Stewart and a double to Bob Boyd in the first inning, then held the Chisox hitless in the next three frames.

"I'm myself again for the first time in four years," he said afterwards. "I feel I can work more often than I did last season."

Because Raschi needed four and sometimes five days rest between starts in 1953, many observers felt that the Cardinals paid too much (reportedly $80,000) for a "once a week" pitcher.

Plagued by an ailing knee, he won on'y 13 games for the Yankees l ast year after compiling 16 victories in 1952 and 21 in '51.

Bobby Shantz, another question mark pitcher, also made his spring debut, but he wasn't nearly so successful as Raschi.

Sidelined most of last season with a sore arm, the pint-sized Philadelphia Athletics' left-hander gave up three Cincinnati runs in three innings. He was touched for a home run by third baseman Charley Harmon, a double by Ted Kluzewski and singles by Grady Hatton, Bob Borkowski and Roy McMillan. Philadelphia won the game 4-3 on a ninth-inning squeeze bunt by rookie Forrest Jacobs.

At Sarasota, Fla., pinch-hitter Billy Goodman's single in the seventh drove in two runs as the Boston Red Sox topped the Milwaukee Braves 3-2 for the fourth straight triumph. Henry Aaron walloped a home run for the Braves.

Outsielder Jim Fridley hit a ninth-inning home run, at Tucson, Ariz., to give the unbeaten Baltimore Orioles a 2-1 decision over the Cleveland Indians. Veteran Howard Fox was the winning pitcher.

The Pittsburgh Pirates exploded for five homers as they defeated the Detroit Tigers 8-1. Sid Gordon, Frank Thomas, Jerry Lynch, Jack Shepard and Bob Skinner were the home run hitters.

Shut out until the eighth, the Brooklyn Dodgers scored six times to tie the score then pushed over a run in the 11th to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies 7-6. Robin Roberts, the Phillies' big winner, blanked the Brooks for five innings.

Pinch-hitter Lew Berberet's sacrifice fly in the ninth drove in the winning run as the Yankees edged the Washington Senators 43 Negro catcher Elston Howard tripled home two of the Yankees three runs in the fourth.

At Mesa, Ariz., Ralph Kiner hit two home runs, one with the bases loaded, to lead the Chicago Cubs to a 10-7 victory over the New York Giants.

North Carolina produced about 3,600,000 pounds of honey in 1953.

Local Man Completes Lumber Course

Warren H. Gunter, Jr., partnership owner of the Gunter Retail Lumber company has attended a 5-week course in the processes and products of lumber yards.

The classwork was given at the University of Kansas City under the sponsorship of the Southwestern Lumbermen's association. In addition to a full schedule of classroom work, several field trips were made to plants turning out the products which lumber yards handle, so the trainee could see the various steps in their manufacture.

Gunter visited the Sheffield Steel corporation, Old American Roofing mill, American Sash & Door copany, City National Bank, Cook Paint & Varnish company and the planning division of the J. C. Nichols company.

Allen T. Flint, secretary-manager of the Southwestern Lumbermen's association, said the curriculum for the course contained forty-eight studies, each taught by a specialist in his field.

At the Sheffield Steel plant, Gunter saw steel being poured at the open hearth, watched wire rods converted into Sheffield fencing and wire nails and heard W. O. Buffe of the company explain the myriad operations of this "department store of steel."

"This entire course has been excellen training." Gunter said. "It has prepared me much better to serve our customers."

Gunter was one of thirty-three men from five states to receive a diploma at graduation exercises March 5 at the Hotel Muehlebach in Kansas City. Ernie Mehl of the Star was the principal speaker.

Pardoned to Take Care of Family

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Francis Cherry today pardoned an Arkansas convict of three 25year-old kansas so the man can return to live with his aged mother and crippled brother.

The recipient is William Hurst, who originally was sent to Tucker Prison Farm in 1929.

The pardons will make Hurst eligible for parole on another charge at the April 7 meeting of the State Parole Board.

Harry F. Hurst, brother of William, wrote that he was forced to undergo an amputation of one leg last November and that William Hurst was needed to live with him and their mother, 84, at their home on Route 1, Camden.

William Hurst escaped from Tucker Farm on Nov. 28 1929 while serving one year for grand larceny in Ouachita County. He was captured and returned in October, 1930.

After his return he was sentenced to an additional six months from Jefferson County for the escape, to an additional one year from the same county for grand larceny and to an additional five years from Ouachita County for robbery.

In 1931, Hurst again escaped—this time from the Tucker hospital — and was not recaptured until 1951 when he was returned to the penitentiary from Enid, Okla.

Cherry pardoned Hurst of all convictions except the five year term and the convict will be eligible for parole on this at the next meeting of the Parole Board.

Superstition

The number "13" may have superstitious overtones because a cell, or a "coven," of devotees under the pre-Christian pagan rite always numbered 13 persons, according ti the Encyclopedia Britannica.

Children Are Smuggled Out of E. Germany

BERLIN (UP) — A young Harvard graduate disclosed today he had smuggled the daughters of his German born wife t ofreedom from behind the Iron Curtain where they were being taught to hate America by their grandfather, a fanatic Communist leader.

Peter Grimes, 32, of Belmont, Mass., braved the threat of arrest and long imprisonment by Soviets in East Germany to rescue the two girls.

Grimes said in an exclusive interview that he entered East Germany with a 10 day visa but remained there four months while he and his wife won the children's confidence.

Then Grimes risked his life by slipping into West Berlin with the young girls.

U. S. officials confirmed Grimes' story of how he and his wife, Irmgard, saved the children from communism.

Grimes and his wife, Irmgard, won the children over by promising to take them to a Gregory Peck movie and buy them a police dog in America.

Grimes had been in East Germany four months, 110 days illegally without a visa, before some Germans in the small town of Nassenheide became suspicious. Arrest seemed near, so Grimes and his wife fled.

Their safe arrival in the West with the girls, Monica, 14 and Evelyn 11, ended a three year campaign by Grimes and his wife to get their children away from the Reds.

Mrs. Grimes' first husband was killed in the war and she emigrated to the United States in 1948 after working for the American military government headquarters in Berlin.

She married Grimes one year later and her father Paul Schroedern stubbornly refused to permit the children to leave Communist territory and grow up as Americans.

"Why swim against the tide" Grimes said Schroedern had asked him. "The future belongs to communism. Come here and live."

Gaines and his wife did. They told Schroeder, a local Communist power and head of the Communist run cooperative organization for the Oranienburg region, they wanted to visit East Germany in the hope of settling down there.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Charlie Leads By a Nose!

Know the wonderful smell of baked beans that leads you to Charlie's Diner on Saturday nights? Well, Charlie told me how he makes sure you'll notice it.

"Baked beans are a favorite with me," he says, "but folks here didn't go for them — until I thought of letting them smell how good beans can be.

"I put a big fan behind the oven when the beans are baking and get that good smell out where folks notice it. Now we're filled up Saturday nights, and most everybody orders beans."

From where I sit, when a good thing gets around town, it usually means good business. I know our beer retailers will agree with that. They co-operate voluntarily with the Self-Regulation program sponsored by the Brewing Industry. They keep their places so neat and clean that the word can't help getting around. And their little extra effort "fans" up a lot of community good will.

Scoffs at Being Called Perfect Wife

By BOB HOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood's idea of the perfect wife says she isn't.

June Allyson is the doll who has inherited Myrna Loy's apron as the ideal spouse of the movies. You'll remember that Miss Loy, who was wed four times in private life, was named the perfect mate after she starred in "The Thin Man" with William Powell, It was about the first time that marriage had appeared exciting on the screen,

Now it's Miss Allyson. She appears to have two husbands —her real mate a former crooner named Dick Powell, and her screen hubby, James Stewart, She admits that she often sees more of Stewart than of Powell.

The Stewart-Allyson alliance began with "The Stratton Story." That movie mating was so successful that Stewart hunted for years to find another vehicle they could do together. He finally found two — "The Glenn Miller Story," which is now breaking records, and "Strategic Air Command," which is beginning production.

When I talked to June in her Paramount dressing room, she scoffed: "Me the perfect Pooh! Far from it."

Her husband —that fellow who used to sing — probably wouldn't agree, but she claimed she's a fizzle as a mate.

"I'm a lousy cook," she said, "he only thing I can really cook well is coffee and eggs. I learned to cook eggs at the American Women's Club on 57th street in New York when I was looking for jobs. I had an old two-burner stove and the only thing I could afford was eggs.

"Oh, yes, I can also barbecue. We built a new one, and went nuts about it. Cooked up some wonderful steaks. would have been a whiz in pioneers times It's too bad I can't cook indoors to."

She added that she always forgets to order food and never has time to sew and do the little wifely chores around the house.

I asked her about her two husbands, and she said they are very much alike.

"I've never seen either of them blow up," she observed. "Jimmy never gets excited. Not that he never gets angry. He does. But the only way you can tell is that he gets a little deadly.

"Richard never raises his voice either. He's the ulcer type — holds things closely to him. If he ever has to bawl someone out, he says it very nicely.

"Jimmy is a very interesting person, He's not at all as quiet as people think he is. He can be shy with strangers, but with friends he can be a real yakker."

For centuries, northern lights were thought ti be battles and maneuvers of spirits or gods, or portents of evil.

Court Asked to Halt Pickets

HOT SPRINGS (AP) — Garland Chancery Court was asked today t o halt picketing by a CIO union at the construction site of the Ouachita General Hospital here. Some 31 workers are involved in the dispute.

Chancellor Sam W. Garrett was to hear a petition this afternoon filed by the Reed Plumbing Co. and M. J. Grove, general contractor at the hospital.

The petitioners claim that Local 454 of the CIO Plumbers and Steamfitters Union is in effect a secondary boycott against Grove.

O. B. Coonradt, the union's business agent, was named defendant.

A picket line was set up at the hospital yesterday. The union previously struck on Feb. 16 charging that Reed was using nonunion workers.

After a week the strike was called off and negotiations started. Yesterday's picket line was estabfiblished when no agreement was reached.

First Round Over in State B Tourney

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The first round in the Arkansas Class B High School Senior Boys Basketball Tournament is over and the results has established two definite favorites for the state title.

Oden and Watson Chapel a couple of high-scoring quintets, ousted competitors yesterday in the windup of the first round with highly impressive performances.

The Oden crew put on a 55-point first half and then turned back a desperation rally by Carthage to win 80-76. Watson Chapel roared to a 20-point victory over Bono 73-53.

In other games yesterday, Parkin whippped Farmington 56-47, and Vilonia defeated Oil Trough 60-54.

Fans continued to avoid the 7,000-seat Barton Coliseum like a plague. Only, 1,373 turned out for the four contests yesterday, and that was a slight increase over Tuesday's crowd.

Oden, which averaged 77 points a game during the regular season, lost little time in displaying its shooting ability. The Timberwolves poured 27 points through the basket in the first eight minutes of play to take a commanding lead. At the half, Oden was ahead 55-34.

But Carthage returned for the second half with renewed vigor, and scored 53 points in a vain effort to overcome Oden's big margin.

Jim Horne and Bud Dial led Watson Chapel to its victory over Bono, and put on the best demonstration of individual talent since the tourney began.

Horne scored 29 points, and Dial added 10 tallies in a virtually unstoppable hook shot. Dial and Horne also combined to spark Watson Chapel's tremendously fast attack, and highly-effective rebounding game.

Vilonia had to go through an overtime period to overcome stubborn Oil Trough. The losers had built up what appeared to be a safe lead when Vilonia climbed out of the hole to knot the count at 49-49 as time ran out.

The Eagles' Lavoy Gunaer then proceeded to tally nine points in the overtime period to give Vilonia the triumph.

Parkin played it close and cautious in the first quarter to build up a 16-13 lead, and then turned loose their shooters to down Farmington. Billy Thompson paced the Parkin attack with 21 points — 10 of them in the first quarter on five consecutive baskets.

Matched in today's games are: Luxora vs Tillar; Coal Hill vs Valley Springs; Vilonia vs Watson Chapel and Parkin vs Oden.

Tech Impressive in Second Win in NIT Meet

KANSAS CITY (AP)— An outfit of basketball wizards from the hills of Arkansas are demonstrating here the shooting ability that made them the highest-scoring smallest college team in the nation — and knocking over all comers in the bargain.

Showing little regard for the pre-tourney favorites, Arkansas Tech smashed Lawrence Tech of Detroit 85-62 yesterday. It was Tech's second impressive victory in the National Intercollegiate Basketball Tournament.

Lawrence Tech was one of the eight top-seeded teams in the tournament, which draws the class of the nation's small college teams.

But, with Arkansas Tech's E. C. O'Neal again hitting the basket from all sides, Lawrence never had a chance. O'Neal scored 29 points, as compared to 33 in his previous tournament effort, to lead Tech to victory. Forward Paul Martin dunked in 24, and Don Sevier added 10.

Tech's leading challenger for national scoring honors, Rio Grande, fell by the wayside last night to unheralded Southeast Louisiana College.

The lightly-regarded southerners stopped Rio Grande's fabulous Bevo Francis with a mere 27 points — anything below Bevo's 50-point per game average for the season is "mere" for him — and won handily 78-65.

Jimmy Mitchell sank 24 points to pace Southeast's attack.

In the wind-up of yesterday's second round play, defending champion Springfield (Mo.) State brushed aside Gustavus Adolphus 66 57. Springfield, which is seeking its third straight NAIA title, led from start to finish.

Pasadena (Calif), College won the first game on last night's card, downing Nebraska Weleyan 81-74. Results of other games yesterday:

Western Illinois defeated Southeastern Oklahoma 79-74 St. Peter's of Jersey City dropped Regis College 63-58; East Texas State bounced Geneva of Pennsylvania 79-52; and St. Benedict's of Kansas outclassed St. Ambrose of Iowa 74-50.

Arkansas Tech meets St. Peter's tonight in the opening game of the quarterfinals.

Springfield will play East Texas State Southeast Louisiana meets Westren Illinois, and Pasadena takes on St. Benedict's.

O'Neal Named to All-Star Cage Team

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UP) —Selection of the annual NAIA All-America basketball teams were announced here today jointly by the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association and the Helms Athletic Founation of Los Angeles, Calif.

Three 10-man squads were chosen, with W. A. (Bill) Herington of Culver-Stockton college supervising for the NAIA and W.R. (Bill) Schroeder representing Helms.

Southwest Missouri of Springfield, the 1952 and 1953 NAIA tournament champions, were the only NAIA college to place two men on the 30-man All-America aggregation. Southwest Missouri placed Jerry Anderson on the first team and Arthur Helms of the second.

Players chosen were to be presented with Helms Athletic Foundation awards at a special awards luncheon tomorrow.

The NAI All-America team:

First team — Robert Hopkins of Pasadena William Warden of North Central;Bo b Smiley of St. Ambrose; Norman Pott of Wheaton Clarence (Bevo) Francis of Rio Grande College Werner Killen of Lawrence Tech; E.C. O'Neal of Arkansas Tech; Jerry Anderson of Southwest Missouri Roman Turmon of Clark Troy Burruss of West Texas State.

Scelba Regime in Italy Wins Confidence

By JAMES M. LONG

ROME (AP) — Premier Mariod Scelba's month-old government had the approval of Parliament today to push for a knockdown fight on ratification of the European Defense Community Treaty.

The Premier won a final parliamentary vote of confidence last night. In a story session, the 590-member Chamber of Deputies approved his program of mild social reform at home and continued ties with the West by a 17-vote margin.

Scelba pledged to rally his backers quickly for approval of the EDC pact, which would bring West German troops into a one-uniform army with Italy, France, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg .

Bobcats Hard Pressed to Win in Last Quarter

The Hope Bobcats had to go all out effort as they downed a much determined Arkadelphia Badger five 75-59 in the opening game of the District 7W-A tournament at Nashville last night.

A last quarter semi-stall gave the Cats 25 points while holding the Badgers to 9 to break a 50-50 tie at the end of three. Garnie Hatch and Sonny Griffin with 9 and 10 points respectively led the Cats in the final minutes.

The Badgers took a 13-12 lead at the end of one when Ross sunk a free throw after the buzzer had sounded. In the second period the Bobcats tossed in 26 points to take a 38-32 lead at halftime.

In the third period, the Cats saw the Badgers drop in 18 points to their 12 as the game was tied at 50 all. The last quarter saw the Cats strong defense and semi-stall work as they went on to score their 22nd win of the season.

Garnie Hatch, who dropped in 22 points, to give him a total of 502 points for the season, was the high scorer for the night. Sonny Griffin followed closely with 20 points. Bell tossed in 19 for Arkadelphia.

In other games played last night, Nashville turned back Ashdown 66-46, while DeQueen eliminated Gurdon 66-33. Games scheduled for tonight are Hope vs Nashville at 7:15 and DeQueen takes on Prescott at 8:15 p. m.

Teams Try for NCAA Positions

NEW YORK (AP) — The National invitation Tournament takes the center of the stage in college basketball's biggest week of the year today as the 16 teams remaining in the National Collegiate Championships awaited their next games.

Semi-finals yere on top in the NIT with top-seeded Duquesne favored over fourth-seeded Niagara and second-seeded Western Kentucky expected to topple third-seeded Holy Cross. The final and a consolation final for tonight's losers, is scheduled Saturday.

Some of the NCAA entries headed for the four regional tourney sites — Philadelphia, Iowa City, Stillwater Okla., and Corvallis, Ore. — and those already on hand got in their final practice licks.

Tere's how they'll line up for the NCAA tilts tomorrow night:

At Philadelphia — Navy vs. Cornell and La Salle vs North Carolina State.

At Iowa City — Penn State vs Louisiana State and Notre Dame vs Indiana.

At Stillwater — Bradley vs Colorado and Rice vs. Oklahoma A&M

At Corvallis — Southern California vs Idaho State and Santa Clara vs. Colorado A&M.

The week-long NAIA Tournament for smaller schools enters the quarterfinal round with Springfield (Mo.) State, the defending champions, still in the running.

The NIT is running true to form for the first time in years. That, plus the fact Duquesne already has beaten Niagara twice, albeit with difficulty both times, makes the Dukes favored in their game. Western Kentucky figures to have too much height and speed for the slick Crusaders of Holy Cross.

Bevo Francis, Rio Grande's sensational scorer, made only 27 points as his team was upset by Southeastern Louisiana College 78 65 in a second round game last night.

The NCAA field finally was completed yesterday with the selection of Colorado to represent the Big Seven Conference. The Buffaloes gained a tie with Kansas in the conference race when the Jayhawkers were upset by Missouri, then won the berth on a lucky draw by Conference Commissioner Beaves Peters. Kansas won the NCAA title in 1952, and lost out in the finals to Indiana last year 69-68.

Indiana, which has a better ranking in The Associated Press poll then any team in the NCAA, may have their toughest struggle in their tourney bow this time. The Hoosiers, ranked second nationally go against Notre Dame's 5th-ranked team, which has rolled to 17 consecutive victories. Indiana beat the Irish 66-65 back in December and also eliminated Notre Dame in last year's NCAA Tournament.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

ST. PETERSBURG (AP)— George Weiss is not generally thought of as a highly emotional man, but it still is plain in talking with him that the general manager of the New York Yankees underwent a severe shock during his recent contract difficulties with some of his veterans.

It seems equally certain that, in his frame of mind, he would not have hesitated to send another star or two to the National League if the departure of pitcher Vic Hashi had not put a sudden stop to the plague of holdouts. Weiss was mad, and still is when he thinks about it.

"It was a terrible experience to realize one day that I had a group of veterans who were not even willing to correspond with me," he said bitterly. "I would not even have known that Raschi had received his contract if he hadn't been forced to sign for it. I didn't feel I had ever done anything to deserve that kind of treatment.

"All of a sudden it occurred to me that I was receiving a warning. What if I already had waited too long to bring in my young pitchers and get them ready to pitch big league baseball What if two or three of my veteran's should have bad years all at once It is not true that I asked waivers on Allie Reynolds at the same time as Raschi, and that Cleveland claimed him, but that is not to say tht Reynolds' name never has been on a waiver list.

"What a lot of people don't realize is that this team that has won five pennants is a young team except for its pitching. Only three o f its members-Reynolds, Phil Rizzuto and Yogi Berra played on Bucky Harris' winning club in 1947. I am proud that we have continued to win while undergoing this transition.

"Now the time has come to bring in my young pitchers and get them ready, if I haven't waited too long. I have several great prospects-fellows like Bob Weisler. Steve Kraly, Art Shallock and others-and they're going to get a real chance this season. So are young fellows Jim McDonald and Bob Kuzava, who really got to pitch very little last year.

"Pitching in the minors or sitting on our bench are vastly different from getting out there and pitching against big league batters in regular turn. All I can hope is that I've realized that and sone something about it before my veterans go on me."

From the decisive tone of the Weiss voice, one can other gather the Manager Casey Stengel has received his orders to go with the kiddies, including Whitey Ford, and to place as little dependence as possible in Reynolds and Eed Lopat. If so, the guest of his sixth straight flag figures to be very wearing on the professor's nerves.

TNT Gives Police a Rough Time

DALLAS (AP) — Two one-pound TNT cans strapped beneath a Dallas County bridge gave officers a bad time yesterday.

A phone call to the sheriff's office reported the cans under a farm road bridge were wired for detonation.

Soon Sheriff Bill Decker was broadcasting radio warnings and calling county commissioners and other officers to the scene. A dynamite expert, Leonard Hollifield, gingerly removed the cans.

"Man," he sighed, "Enough to blow up this end of the county."

As two of the officers drove away they spotted men in Army uniforms working under another bridge.

"We're from the 49th Armored Division," one of the National Guardsmen explained. "We're having maneuvers. We got every bridge mined in this end of the county with dummy TNT and this is our last objective to blow up."

Public Break Not Likely in GOP Ranks

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Eisenhower administration may have decided to put a damper on Sen. McCarthy but obliquely and without the party-shattering effect which might come from a head-on, public break.

One of the most highly placed Republicans, with the understanding his name would not be used, has indicated administration strategy is "to get McCarthy out of the headlines and get our story across."

This may take some doing since the Wisconsin Republican has a sharp sense of news and news timing. For instance: if anyone cracks at him, he usually replies at once so the attack and the reply appear at the same time.

But one thing is clear: last week he was riding high; this week he has run into a stone wall. Was this, in view of what the highly placed Republican said, the result of accident or method

Last week President Eisenhower rebuked McCarthy for his tactics with witnesses, although without naming him. And McCarthy within one hour — an example of his fast timing — told Eisenhower in effect he'd handle witnesses as he saw fit.

Eisenhower has been criticized, particularly by Adlai Stevenson, for not taking a stronger stand on McCarthy. A stronger stand might have deflated McCarthy but it also might have angered him and split the party into factions.

By week's end McCarthy's energy, poise and power seemed undisturbed and undiminished. Then Saturday night in a Miami speech Stevenson criticized Eisenhower, his administration, and McCarthy.

Anyone could have guessed McCarthy would demand the networks give him equal radio-television time to reply. He did. But the Republican National Committee also demanded time for a reply to Stevenson.

The networks, which last fall gave McCarthy equal time to reply to former President Truman, said "No" to McCarthy and "Yes" to the Republican committee.

High administration sources say Eisenhower himself called Leonar d Hall, Republican National Committee chairman, and suggested the committee ask for the air time. Hall did.

The President may not intentionally have been trying to forestall McCarthy but that was the result. McCarthy acknowledged the committee's right to time on the air but insisted he was due time, also, because Stevenson criticized him.

He said the networks would give him the time or they'd learn what the law is. The law says candidates for public office be given "equal opportunities" on the air. But McCarthy is not now a candidate.

McCarthy said the rules of the Federal Communications Commission, the federal agency controlling the airwaves, "provide I must be given time to answer these charges.'

The networks didn't budget. And yesterday in New York, McCarthy refused to let NBC and CBS cameramen take pictures of him at a news conference.

FCC member Robert E. Lee said he thought it a square deal for the networks to give the Republican party time, instead of McCarthy, to reply to Stevenson.

"McCarthy's my friend," Lee said, "but in this case it seems I would have to say: 'Look, pal, it seems like a square deal to me.' "

"If that's the rule," McCarthy said, "the rule has got to be changed." He said he would hire lawyers to check whether he has a right to demand time from the networks.

But that wasn't all that happened. Yesterday Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) tore into McCarthy on the Senate floor. He charged McCarthy is "doing his best to shatter" the Republican party and by his actions is diverting the nation from "far more dangerous problems" than internal communism.

Meanwhile, Vice President Nixon was picked — reportedly by Eisenhower — to make the Republican party's reply to Stevenson Saturday night.

Spring is near but for McCarthy this week brought the chilliest weather he has had to endure since the Eisenhower administration took over in January 1953.

Mack Sennett Gang Holds Reunion

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Mack Sennett once Hollywood sking of comedy, took a sentimental journey into the past last night as his stars of yesterday gathered for a reunion at his old studio.

The creator of the Keystone Kops and the Mack Sennett bathing beauties was the subject of the TV show "This Is Your Life." Emcee Ralph Edwards assembled many of the old Sennett troupe for dinner and drinks at the site of the old Keystone studio in the Edendale district of Los Angeles.

The place is now used by a trucking firm, and the company erected an obelisk in honor of the studio for the occasion.

The 69,-year-old Canadian-born producer was taken completely by surprise. He was induced to attend the program by Cameron Shipp, with whom he is writing his memoirs. He was supposed to be appearing on a show called "So You Want to Write a Book," and a phony script was even concocted.

"How am I going to live up to 'The King of Comedy,' " Sennett remarked afterward, referring to his billing on the show. "I wish I had gotten more laughs."

There were many laughs and much sentiment at the after-show party. Edwards had assembled many figures from Sennett's past, among them his boyhood sweetheart from Northampton, Mass., Mrs. Rose Clark, whom he hadn't seen in many decades. Also. Fritzi Scheff star of ',Mademoiselle Modiste," in which Sennett played a chorus boy 50 years ago.

The dwindling ranks of the Keystone Koss included Hank Mann, Chester and Heinie Conklin and Andy Clyde.

Other Sennett stars present included Sally Eilers, Phyllis Haver, Louise Fazenda, Jack Mulhall, Franklin Pangborn, Minta Durfee Arbuckle and Alberta Vaughn.

Harold Lloyd was there and recalled working three or four months as a juvenile for Sennett at $50 a week before moving on to greater fame. Sennett who also started such stars as Charlie Chaplin, Bing Crosby, W.C. Fields, Carole Lombard and Gloria Swanson, has been i nsemi-retirement since 1935. He leads an active life, remaining in touch with the show world and playing golf daily.

The only disappointment of the evening was dessert. Custard pie was not served.

Kansans Question Arkansas' Eligibility

WICHITA, Kan. (AP) — A playoff game between the AAU basketball champions of Arkansas and the Missouri Valley remained an uncertainty today after a question was raised about the amateur standing of the Arkansas team.

An AAU official, Irvin Van Blarcon, said here that the manager of the El Dorado Legionnaires told Tony Voshell, manager of the McPherson, Kan., team, that "most of my boys are high school coaches and can't play on Friday night."

McPherson wants the game on Friday night at their home court, but El Dorado is insisting that the game be played on a Saturday.

Van Blarcon said that under the AAU rules as enforced in Kansas, high school coaches are professionals. He said that he told Voshell:

"If the Arkansas Association issues El Dorado the necessary travel permits, it takes the responsibility, and you're safe in playing them Friday night. The eligibility matter can be settled later."

Petition to Save Jenkins Filed

By LEON HATCH

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A petition for a United States Supreme Court review of the conviction and death sentence of Indian Bill Jenkins was filed in Washington today.

Gov. Francis Cherry was advised of the filing by a telegram from Court Clerk Harold B. Lilley.

Later Cherry talked by telephone to the clerk's office at Washington and was advised that the petition for Jenkins would be heard by Associate Justice Tom Clark later today.

The governor said he anticipated that the action before the court probably would result in a stay of sentence for Jenkins, scheduled to be electrocuted at Tucker Prison Farm Friday morning.

The governor said, however, that, if necessary, he would grant another stay to see that Jenkins receives the benefit of all possible legal procedure.

State Senator to Retire

WARREN (AP)— State Sen. Lee Reaves today announced that he will retire from politics. Reaves has been a state senator for 16 years.

Reaves, who now manages Radio Station KWRF here, said the press of personal business was responsible for his decision.

He was the third ranking member in seniority in the Senate The only other senators who have served longer are Ellis M. Fagan of Little Rock and Roy Milum of Harrison.

Rep. Oliver Williams, of Sheridan and George Chaney of Warren both have filed for Reaves' 16th District seat.

Power Disrupted at Hot Springs

HOT SPRINGS (AP)— Half the city of Hot Springs and residents 14 miles north to Owensville were without electricity for about four hours last night when a 13,000 volt power line was broken.

Police said wires supporting a utility pole at the intersection of Gorge Road and Little Rock Highway, near the North city limits, apparently was struck by a car.

Officers said emergency power units were used for operations underway at the city hospital and candles were lighted for about 500 people in the midst of an evening meal at the Majestic Hotel.

CHAPTER THIRTY NINE

SHELLY sat thoughtful for a minute. Then she opened a drawer, took out her straw purse, laid it on the record folder and dialed the telephone.

She asked if she could see Mr. Carr if she came to the plant.

Mr. Carr would see her.

At the plant, Shelly was told to go directly to Mr. Carr's office, and a dozen people spoke to her as she went through to its door, opened it. Four men rose at her entrance. Everett, E.J., Williard and Mr. Jarvis, who was the plant lawyer.

Everett came to her, and went through the motion of kissing her. "I didn't know you'd got back," he said, almost angrily.

Shelly smiled. "I got back about four yesterday. It was hot in St. Louis."

"Shelly—" E. J. blurted, and his father scowled at him.

"This is no time to pussyfoot!" cried the son. "Shelly, can you tell us where Talboy is?"

"Why, yes," she said quietly. "He went to Chicago on business. He left late Sunday evening—he told Mrs. Vandable . . ."

There was an itchy silence in the big office. Shelly sat down, and the men resumed their chairs. She laid the folder on the desk.

"Miss Browne," she said calmly, "Dr. Talboy's office nurse—told me a little of the trouble here—what she knew—that this man had been told he had a legal case against the company."

Jarvis made a gobbling sound.

"I brought the record over," said Shelly. "It contains all the data on him, all his examinations and X-ray reports, records of his voice, made three months ago, with the notation—" She glanced at her father-in-law, then at the lawyer "—that Dr. Talboy feared pulmonary involvement. There's also a note to the effect that the man still refused to use the therapeutic measures provided by the Refractory against silicosis." Would they recognize Craig's foresight in keeping this record?

"We're glad to have that material," said Everett quickly.

"Oh, yes!" agreed Jarvis.

"I don't see how they can think they have a case!" decided Willard.

"Lewis advised him that he did," said E.J. morosely. "What we want to know is this—did Talboy make Evans stand out in the rain Sunday afternoon and help him with the fellow who was hurt?"

Shelly looked blank. "I must have missed out on something," she said in a puzzled tone. "You see, I was gone Sunday—"

They all helped tell her of the man asleep on the tracks, of the way Dr. Talboy had saved him from further injury, and then had done a fine job of amputating the crushed leg. . .

"Well," she said, pointedly, "it's a good thing that he was in town Sunday!"

The men all stopped to look at her. Thoughtfully.

"What'd he go to Chicago for?" E.J. demanded.

"I don't know. He didn't tell Myra. Just that he could be reached at the Stevens."

"I thought you two had eloped," said Willard with heavy humor, "when you both turned up missing."

Shelly laughed prettily. "Well, that would be a juicy tale!" she agreed. "I'm sorry to spoil it. But a long habit of telling the truth makes me admit that I went to St. Louis—and alone." She saw her opening and took it. Looking innocently around, she continued, "You see, my uncle had heard of a new medical technique which he thought might help Mother. He wanted to try it, and I decided it would be best to discuss it with him in person. I really wished Stephen were here! I knew so little—but Uncle Adolphe was not bothered by such a handicap. He always knows the right person to consult, and even though it was Sunday, we got a medical consultation—and were advised not to attempt the treatment."

It was, certainly, the longest speech she had ever made before, or with, Stephen's family. The three men looked a little blank.

"I had never let myself put much hope into it," she reassured them. "But Uncle hoped it would be successful, because he's afraid the Rideouts are liable to cerebral hemorrhage. He was pretty depressed Sunday night; I was glad to point out to him that the ones in the family who had had strokes were the ones who took least care of their health, an uncle who drank too much, and my mother who worked and fretted too much. But Uncle Adolphe—"

Everett Carr coughed. Shelly glanced at him, and tensely clasped her hands upon her purse.

"Are you talking about Adolphe Rideout in St. Louis?" he demanded.

"Why, yes. Do you know him? But, of course, you do! He says . . ."

"The Rideout Chemical company, Jarvis," Everett explained to all the other men. "The family settled St. Louis—you say he's your uncle, Shelly?"

"He's a cousin of my mother's. But, in our family, children call all the older men 'Uncle.' "

"First cousin?"

"Yes." Her eyes held a question. E.J. and Willard were looking at her as if they expected a bomb to explode at any minute. Or, she thought later, as if they were ready to demand documentary proof. Everett leaned back in his chair.

"Does Stevie know Adolphe Rideout . . ." he gulped, " . . . is your cousin?"

"Well, yes, I think Stephen does know. Not that it makes any difference," she said demurely. "Stephen is no snob."

Everett took a deep, steadying breath. "He should have told us," he said coldly.

"Why?"

"Well—" Everett moved things about on his big desk. "No reason, I guess. But, well—you see, I thought there was only you and your mother—in the way of family, I mean."

"That's all there really is," Shelly agreed pleasantly. She stood up, turned to Mr. Jarvis. "I thought perhaps—in case there was a lawsuit, you'd want to have photostatic copies made of this record. Don't let it get lost. Dr. Talboy would be angry if anything happened to his files; he's so painstaking with them." She walked out of the room, with four stunned men watching.

"By gum!" said Everett. "I knew she had good blood—the first time I saw her walk!"

Excitement fizzing in her veins, Shelly went back to the office and put in a call for Craig. By early afternoon, she reached him, and then remembered to talk guardedly. Something had come up, she told him, some trouble . . .

"With you?" he broke in, his tone anxious, ready—

"No," she answered serenely, then added, "except that I'm still fighting on your side. This was at the plant."

"What about your own square of canvas?"

"Oh that bell has been ringing every five minutes since I've been home. And I'm doing fine!"

His deep chuckle vibrated across the wires. "Good! Well, I've some appointments—but I'll try to get there tomorrow evening. Or early on Thursday, sure."

"That'll be fine, doctor," she answered. "Goodby."

He reached Norfolk the next night, and drove straight to Shelly's house; there were lights downstairs and he went in. Donald greeted his friends effusively—for Donald—and Ike brought the doctor a stein of cold beer. Myra sat where she could be seen through a window by any interested passers-by.

Craig looked a little tired, but not especially worried over what Shelly might be going to tell him.

However, when she had finished her account of the Bob Evans situation, he drained his mug, and set it on the tray with a crash.

His black eyes were like coals. "How's the chap whose leg I took off Sunday evening?" he asked tightly.

The Vandables and Shelly looked at him, astonished.

Craig got to his feet and began to pace around the room; the windows were open, and before one of them a fan blew softly. "I'm not crazy," he threw at his listeners. "On Sunday, Bob Evans helped me care for that black boy; I thought he had a changed opinion of me as a doctor. I confess I asked him to help me so that he might see me in a different light; he's made plenty of trouble for me with the men. So tell me! What happened? Did the fella die?"

"He's doing fine," said Shelly gravely. "But I can tell you what happened to Evans."

"Shelly, honey . . ." protested Myra, as she might have warned a child against going too close to a red-hot stove.

Shelly smiled wanly, and brushed a lock of hair away from her face. "He has to know—he'll find out. In fact, he knows already."

CHAPTER FORTY

CRAIG came to stand stiffly before her. "You—and me?" he rasped.

"Yes. Either that wife of his—or Dr. Lewis—or both—told Evans that you and I had gone off together."

"He knew I was around on Sunday evening."

"He didn't know but what I was too. He did know, and could verify, that we both were gone on Monday, and that was when he gave Lewis the go-ahead on the lawsuit."

"But why?" cried Craig. "Is he so moral— I mean, to be shocked at a story?"

"His wife is," said Myra. "I mean, she's the sort to talk high morals—in othah people. An' when her sort gets to work on a husband, what chance does he stand to do his own thinkin'?"

Craig slumped into a chair. "I'm afraid she's right, Shelly. Bob was ready to change his mind about me—and then a thing like gossip had to spoil it. The fact that the gossip is not true, of course, doesn't signify."

Shelly lifted her golden head. "Let's not be so tactful as to confuse the issue. We four know how close the gossip was to truth. I left Norfolk because I was fed up with being lonely. You were ready to be kind to me. And I had behaved publicly in a way to encourage your—kindness."

Craig scowled. "Being kind to you could be a very pleasant thing," he admitted.

Ike laughed, and Myra told him to shet up!

Shelly's smile was a little weary. "What I was working toward—hadn't we better try to handle the situation as it exists rather than the one which seems more reasonable?"

"You mean this lawsuit that Lewis has filed?"

"As I understand it, he appears in the charge only as 'contrary medical opinion.' " Now Shelly's demure smile was gilded with mischief.

Craig was on his feet again. Storming at Lewis, storming at the position he and the plant were in—at the power given the workmen without any insistence that they know what they were talking about. And the plant, he concluded, positively should not be responsible or liable if it provided protection and that protection was not used by the workers!

"Craig," Shelly said then," didn't you—at the first Medical society meeting here in Norfolk talk about the dust-therapy program to the other doctors?"

"Yes," he growled. "I also proposed that Lewis' license be suspended. At that meeting."

"The two things tie in, of course," she agreed sweetly. "But I recall your saying that the other men—the other doctors—all seemed interested in what you told them, and approved of your therapy." Now she glanced at him.

"What are you suggesting?" he asked warily.

She smiled, and smoothed her brightly flowered skirt. "Only that this is a golden opportunity, Craig. Why don't you go to the meeting at the end of this week—there is one on Friday night—and ask the local society's support of your program? Bob Evans' case puts the spotlight right where you want it. And you have tomorrow and Friday to get up an impressive list of facts pertaining to the plant health record."

Craig pursed his lips thoughtfully.

"Are you forgetting our friend Lewis?"

"I'm not forgetting him. He'll fight against you. But he's only one doctor— You'd have some of the men with you, I know. Dr. Ward and Dr. Sowder, for sure. Probably Dr. Bowser. Stephen began the program; you could mention that. I think you'd be justified in leaning on the Carr name here in town."

"If you think I'd stoop to threats . . ."

"Now don't be stubborn," she said quickly. "Nobody mentioned threats. But you could tell what the program had cost to install and operate. You could at least imply that a big, successful corporation does not accept a costly program without a good deal of primary investigation . . ."

Craig again held his head tilted; it meant he was listening and thinking—

"You talked me into agreeing that I should make my fight," Shelly pointed out. "But what are you doing about your own?"

Craig looked at her, a smile playing about his lips. Then he stood up. "Come on, Donald," he said dryly. "Let's go get us some sleep. Looks like I've got a war on my hands."

"You mean you're goin' to whup Lewis!" Myra concluded with happy satisfaction.

Ike laughed, and Craig crossed the room to her, bent over and kissed her cheek. "I'm going to try, Myra honey," he agreed.

The Medical society meeting on Friday night seemed to proceed in a routine manner. When Craig came in, there were a few alertly lifted heads. Dr. Lewis leaned forward to whisper something to Appleman. Craig spoke to the men near the chair which he selected, and quietly lit a cigaret. It was another rainy evening, and he wore a dark suit, a plain tie and white shirt.

He listened intently to the speaker of the evening, an allergy specialist who talked on nervous complications; he asked a question or two, as did the other doctors.

When Bowser asked if there was any business still to be presented, Dr. Talboy lifted a hand, and at recognition, he got to his feet. Lewis snickered aloud, and Craig turned to look at him. He seemed ready to retort, then did not.

He pointedly turned a shoulder on Lewis, and addressed the chair and the visiting specialist. He detailed the plant's health program. He quoted figures, and the record of success from that program.

He deplored the fact that the anti-silicosis provisions could not be forced upon the workers. He was asking now that the Norfolk Medical society go on record as endorsing the program. It was, of course, a tremendous help to any local industry to have the united support of the community doctors.

"And such a help to the plant doctor!" It was Dr. Lewis's oleaginous voice. Even the visiting doctor looked indignantly at him.

Craig tried to ignore him. "It is generally believed," he continued, in his deep, thoughtful tone, "that doctors, as a group, are primarily interested in the welfare of the community which they serve. I have never known a situation more clearly defined than the one which exists here in Norfolk. What is good for the Carr Refractories, what is good for their employes, must necessarily be good for the town—and for its doctors. It does not seem too much to ask that this society, acting as such, investigate the Refractory's health and safety program, and determine if it can give endorsement to that program."

He sat down. Dr. Lewis got to his feet.

"Your questions, Dr. Lewis?" said the chairman.

"If our redskinned friend here will answer them."

Now there definitely was a murmur of protest.

"I have never," said Craig smoothly, "leaned upon the fact of my old and honorable American ancestry. I am, however, exceedingly proud of it." He stood waiting for Lewis to ask his questions.

That doctor looked around the room again, seeking friendly faces. "Well," he blustered, "the first perhaps needs no answer. You are, of course, employed as a doctor by the Carr Refractories."

"I came here, as you know, to serve as locum for Dr. Stephen Carr. I am paid a flat fee by him. I care for his practice, which includes the service he gave to the Refractories and their employes."

"Yes," said Dr. Lewis. He rubbed his white, pudgy hands together. "That brings me to my more important question. Just how are you paid by the insurance company who put you into this—what did you call it?—locum job?"

Craig took two steps toward Lewis, "Will you clarify that question?" he demanded, his face black.

Lewis shrugged. "Doubt if I need to. It's well known that the insurance companies control the selection of industrial physicians as a means of controlling medical testimony. This control of medical care is supposed to keep down medical costs, whereas actually it limits compensation awards. If you'd like an example of this situation I'll call your attention, and outline for the society, if it wishes, the case of a man named Steinke . . ."

Craig took two more steps. "All right. What about Steinke?"

Something in his deep voice, his dark, still face made Lewis take out a handkerchief and mop his neck. "Not much," he said ironically. "Just that the man was hurt —and badly—but you denied him adequate medical care, and sent him back to work before he had recovered. And the only reason for that was to keep down compensation costs, wasn't it? And the only reason you could have had to keep 'em down was because you were in the hire of the insurance company as well as—"

"Outrage!" breathed someone even as Craig's fist shot out, caught Lewis against his right jaw, and sent him spinning, crashing down between the chairs.

Ike Will Have to Put Brakes on McCarthy

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGON (AP) — President Eisenhower, at the moment he was indirectly rebuking Sen. McCarthy for his treatment of a general, said primary responsibility for fair play in Senate investigations rests with Senate Republicans.

If he meant this as a recommendation to his Senate Republicans to clamp down on McCarthy, he found out fost they wanted no part of it. So, any brake on the Wisconsin Republican will probably have to be applied by Eisenhower.

In a news conference statement last Wednesday, Eisenhower seemed to be disclaiming any responsibility for McCarthy's actions when he said:

"Obviously, it is the responsibility of the Congress to see to it that its procedures are proper and fair I, of course, expect the Republican membership of the Congress to assume the primary responsibility in this respect since they are the majority party and therefore control the committees."

And he added he was glad to hear the Senate Republican leadership had taken steps to "set up codes of fair procedure."' He was referring to the Senate Republican Policy Committee's meeting of a week before.

This committee made up of too Senate Republicans, had huddled when McCarthy's quarrel with the Army was reaching a peak. It decided to study rules and policies of procedure. That was pretty vague language.

It was vague enough to cover everything from doing much to doing nothing. The committee could decide, for instance, that the whole Senate ought to lay down ironclad rules to be sure its committees acted fairly.

That's a step Congress has never been willing to take. Each committee makes its own rules. Or the policy committee could just decide to let the committees alone.

A few hours after Eisenhower made his statement about the "primary responsibility" of Congress to seek its procedures are fair and expressed gladness about what the policy committee might do, the committee met.

When it was over Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), the chairman, emerged and said there was no intention of asking the Senate itself to form new rules.

"I suppose," Ferguson added, "each chairman thinks he already had all the rules he needs, otherwise he would have done something about it."

And Sen. Knowland (R-Calif), Republican Senate floor leader, said there could be no question of "forcing a set of rules on committee chairmen."

In short, it seems that whatever is done will be left up to the committee chairman and committee members to do, although the policy committee planned to talk some more about it.

Nevertheless, Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) yesterday introduced a bill to establish by law a "code of fair play" for congressional investigations and to create a single Senate-House internal security committee. That would mean taking authority for hunting Communists away from McCarthy's investigations subcommittee, and from others.

This seemed a piece of sheer optimism by Douglas. Other proposals, similar to Douglas', have been introduced earlier this year.

Meanwhile, McCarthy was demanding radio-television time to reply to the Miami speech of Adlai Stevenson, who Saturday night denounced the Wisconsin Republican and the Eisenhower administration too.

And McCarthy, being a man of many surprises, pulled another surprise this time. There was nothing new about his demand from airtime to reply to a critic. But this was what was brand new now:

If he gets the radio-TV time, it was learned autoritatively, he plans, for the first time, to show in advance a copy of his remarks to the White House and national committee leaders for their suggestions.

While this could be considered a sign of new spirit of cooperation with the White House, if the White House approved his speech in advance, the Democrats might claim the President was now publicly blessing McCarthy.

MOP Reorganization Plan Hits Snag

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The latest reorganization plan for the bankrupt Missouri Pacific Railroad Co. has met stiff opposition from the directors of the line.

The directors called the plan unfair to common stockholders and yesterday announced plans to file protests with the Interstate Commerce Commission. Some bondholders predicted the plan would stymie management by requiring an 11-million-dollar annual capital fund.

That amount was reached only during three years ino the history of the railroad, the directors said.

The latest plan drafted for the railroad, which has been in receivership for 21 years, was proposed by an ICC examiner.

Mother to Trial for Slaying Children

WATERVILLE, Maine (AP) — A distraught young housewife who wrote a message that "God told me" today faced a murder charge in the bathtub drownings of her three children.

County Atty. Joseph B. Campbell said Mrs. Constance Fisher, 24, would be arraigned in Municipal Court.

Richard Fisher, 6, his brother Daniel, 4, and their sister Deborah, 1. were found dead in their home yesterday by their father Carl 33, who smashed a door to gain entrance.

Richard's body lay face down in the tub. The others were on beds

Campbell said Mrs. Fisher was huddled in a blanket under a bed. He said she had swalloped some liquid shampoo in a suicide attempt, but it had no serious effect.

Fisher, a Maine Central Railroad employe was temporarily prostrated when he discovered the bodies and a note scrawled on wrapping paper.

Campbell said Mrs. Fisher wrote her husband:

"It was so hard to do, but God told me it was the only way I could save them. They are in heaven safe forever from evil.

The Fisher family physician said Mrs. Fisher had been subject to periods of depression and had consulted a psychiatrist about them.

Arkansan May Becomes a Regular Card

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Enos (Country) Claughter is not yet ready to retire, but when he does, the St. Louis Cardinals have a hunch they've found a worthy successor in a young Arkansan.

The man who is being groomed to step into the shoes of the 38-year-old Slaughter is Wally Moon, an outfielder who technically still is a member of the International League Rochester Redwings but who is the brightest new face in the Cardinal camp.

Unless he goes into a complete eclipse, Moon is a cinch to become a full-fledged member of the Redbirds within a matter of days. In the short time he's been here, 23-year-old former Texas A&M athlete from Trumann. Ark., has caught the eye of Manager Eddie Stanky with his fine all-around performance.

"The boy hasn't smiled since he's been in camp," observed Stanky the other day. "He's all business. If he continues to look as good as he has been, I don't see how we can keep him off the club."

Moon has the advantage over most of the other rookies in the Cardinal camp. He put in an entire winter playing in the Benezuelan League with the pennant winning Pastore team of Maracaibo, Venezuela.

The rangy flychaser was adjudged the most valuable player in that circuit, leading all hitters with 61 runs scored, 60 runs batted in and seven triples in 64 games. He was second in homers in 12 and in batting with .322. His run batted in and runs scored totals are all-time league records.

Moon demonstrated that power in the Cardinals first game of the grapefruit season. His first hit was a 385-foot home run to right field against New York Yankee pitching. Later he slammed a 400-foot double off the center field wall.

Says U. S. to Fight on Own Terms Now

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vice President Nixon told a Philadelphia Bulletin Forum audience last night the United States has adjusted its thinking to the point "where we will now fight on our own terms."

Nixon in the forum's keynote address said U. S. armed strength and military planning is being rearranged "to carry out that policy," a plan which he said has already born visible fruit.

In not one area of the world," he said, "have the Reds gained this year—and in many areas we have made gains. For the first time in a generation we are experiencing peace and prosperity at the same time."

He said much of the credit for this successful shift can be traced to President Eisenhower as well as the National Security Council, Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and the "defense team" composed of Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens and Navy Secretary Robert B. Anderson.

He said the United States must aid the Associated States in Indochina becuase a Red victory there would mean the evenutal loss of all Asia to communism.

He said the present situation in the Far East can be summed up thus:

"If Southwest Asia falls if it comes under the Communist domination or Communist orientation what happens to Japan Inevitably by necessity it must become an economic satellite in the Soviet orbit. . .

"The loss of China led to Korea and to Indochina and the loss of Asia."

Would you trade a Penny for a Dollar?

● You can if you use Natural Chilean Nitrate of Soda for your top-dressing and side-dressing needs. It costs a little more because it's worth more. But the difference in cost usually can be measured in pennies per acre, while the difference in value often amounts to dollars per acre.

Chilean "Bulldog" Soda gives you generous extra value. The nitrogen is 100 per cent nitrate. It's 100 per cent available (quick-acting); 100 per cent dependable. The minor elements make crops stronger, healthier. The sodium—26 pounds in every 100-pound sack—is a key to maximum returns on your entire fertilizer investment. It offsets the bad effects of acid-forming fertilizers...increases the efficiency of mixed fertilizers containing them. It releases "locked-up" potash in the soil...increases the availability and efficiency of soil phosphate...reduces potash, calcium and magnesium losses by leaching...develops larger, deeper root systems.

Sodium builds up the productivity of your land—more each year. It's an essential element for some crops...beneficial to most and necessary for maximum yields of many.

Pennies-per-acre difference in cost may mean dollars-per-acre difference in value to you. Chilean "Bulldog" Soda is the best fertilizer your money can buy. Use it for all of your top-dressing and side-dressing needs.

Senate GOP's Seek 'Fair' Hearings

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican leaders called a meeting today to discuss steps that might be taken to persuade committees to make their investigative procedures fair to everyone.

The question arose in the wake of a public row between Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens.

A closed meeting of the Senate GOP Policy Committee followed introduction by Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) and Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) yesterday of a bill to establish by law "a code of fair play" for congressional investigations.

Douglas said the approach taken by Republican leaders, based on persuasion rather than legislation, amounted only "to a pious hope that committees will reform themselves.'

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the policy committee, was due to report to the GOP committee on his survey of existing Senate committee rules and discussion of possible improvements with individual committee chairmen.

Republican Leader Knowland of California already has said each committee has the unquestioned right to accept or reject any suggestions growing out of the study

Funds Asked for Spa Hospital Operation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army officials notified Rep. Norrell (D-Ark.) today they will ask a House Appropriations Subcommittee for funds to continue operation of the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark.

The request will be made in an supplemental budget request since the regular budget made no provision for operation of the hospital during the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The Army said last fall it would close the big hospital by March 30. After a protest by the Arkansas delegation, however, Secretary of Defense Wilson agreed to have the matter re-studied.

Last week the Army announced it would continue the hospital in operation.

'Dragnet' Star Up on Alimony Count

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Jack Webb, star of the television show "Dragnet," faced court orders today to show cause why he should not be held in contempt for failure to pay a property settlement to his actress-wife, Julie London.

Miss London, who won an interlocutory divorce from Webb last November, served the television star with a court summons yesterday, charging Webb failed to pay her $350,000 she claims he owes her under a property settlement.

She charged he failed to set up a $150,000 trust for her from the sale of Dragnet productions last December. She also accused him of neglecting to give her $150,000 in life insurance, plus $50,000 in cash due March 4.

Webb's attorney, Clore Warne, denied the allegations.

Miss London in her divorce, won custody of their two children, Stacy, 4, and Lisa, 1, plus $1800 a month alimony and child support and almost half a million dollars in cash and securities.
